

As our entire community navigates through the unprecedented situation created by the coronavirus, Broward County Public Schools (BCPS) remains committed to supporting the educational needs of our students and families.

Over the past week, BCPS provided information on many important topics, including the District's learning continuity plan, the distribution of computer devices to support online learning, free breakfast and lunch for students and families, updates on state testing requirements announced by the Florida Department of Education, and more.

You can access this information at browardschools.com/coronavirus, but for your convenience, you can find a recap below:
